U OF I EXTENSION TO BRING AREA FAMILIES, SOLDIERS TOGETHER FOR HOLIDAY SEASON VISITS

Dozens of Illinois families will have the chance to visit face-to-face with their soldiers in Iraq on Tuesday and Wednesday, December 5 and 6, via University of Illinois Extension's videoconferencing system. Soldiers at Camp Al Asad (Air Force) and Camp Taji/Cooke (Army) will be able to see and talk with family members in private 30-minute "See Your Soldier" sessions hosted by U of I Extension offices in 15 communities. There is no charge to participate. Families must register online at <http://www.seeyoursoldier.uiuc.edu> no later than 5 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 3 to be eligible for a time slot, and reservations will be made on a first-come, first-served basis. The live audio/video linkages are being offered in collaboration with the National Center for Supercomputing Applications (NCSA) based at the U of I in Urbana. The videoconferencing equipment and satellite connection in Iraq are provided by the Freedom Calls Foundation.

When a family has registered, the military will alert the service member about the opportunity to visit with friends and family, and the time and date of the Internet transmission. If the soldier's duty schedule can accommodate the visit, family members will be assigned a time for their 30-minute session. The program is limited to military personnel stationed at Camps Al Asad & Taji/Cooke.

Locations of the December 2006 "See Your Soldier" videoconferences will be:

COMMUNITY SERVICES & ORGANIZATIONS

IF YOU'RE FEEDING FERAL OR STRAY CATS, WE HAVE A SOLUTION

As the humane movement moves forward in its efforts to stop using euthanasia as a means of homeless pet population control, more and more communities across the country are relying on a program called Trap-Neuter-Return (TNR) to manage feral and stray cat populations.

Old methods do not work: In the past, communities used trap-remove-kill to try and stop the rise in homeless cat populations, only to find, in spite of their efforts, that the number of street cats was still rising at an alarming rate. In addition to the ineffectiveness of the trap and kill method, the cost to these communities was huge. It could cost between $75-120 to have a feral or stray cat trapped, removed, held for a short period, euthanized, and discarded. Additionally, cats that are left behind, such as cats that are too smart for trapping, start to overbreed to fill the void left by the cats that were trapped and removed and the community is left to start all over again trying to control the population of feral and stray cats.

TNR works: There is a better way to control the feral and stray cat population and it's called TNR. Through this program, feral and stray cats are trapped by registered caretakers, brought to a veterinary clinic for sterilization, and returned to their original location after they recover from surgery. Friendly adults should be removed from the street and placed into loving homes, and kittens young enough to be socialized, should also be taken off the street and placed into indoor settings.

The main benefit of TNR is that the breeding stops so the population stabilizes immediately. Because the cats are vaccinated against rabies, public safety is also enhanced. The cats that come through the program are also vaccinated against distemper and are treated for parasites. Cats that are returned to their original colony are healthier.

Spay and Stay has also found that an additional 25 percent of cats that have been sterilized and returned to their original location have subsequently become tame enough to be adopted into loving homes. Sterilization has a positive effect on these cats and they stop the nuisance behaviors associated with mating and protection of territory.

If you feed them, FIX them: Any resident of Antioch who is feeding a feral or stray cat can have access to Spay and Stay's Trap-Neuter-Return program. That way, we can work together to humanely control the population of free-roaming cats in our community.

Contact Spay and Stay at 847-289-4557 to get more details on this program. You can also visit their website at www.spayandstay.org for information on the effectiveness of TNR.
